

Uplift Central Oregon
Homeschool Resource Center

About the Resource Center

Uplift Central Oregon is a Homeschool cooperative that thrives to serve all of Central Oregon.

We desire to equip and connect homeschooling families, providing them with the tools and support they need to thrive on their homeschooling journey. We desire to see every homeschool parent flourishing and confident, every student growing and challenged.

As an organization, we are committed to empowering students, parents, and teachers to pursue education within a broad Christian framework. Uplift is committed to bringing a variety of resources to families in order to achieve a common goal: educating and preparing a generation of children to take their place as a voice of Christ's love and as leaders in their own communities and beyond.

A Resource Center is meant to supplement home education. This is accomplished through classes, field trips, special events, tutoring, workshops, and counseling. It neither provides childcare nor requires parent participation (although it's encouraged!). Resource Centers do not employ teachers, rather provide a space for freelance instructors to support homeschool families. Resource Centers are not accredited, credits are awarded by the parents.
