BRAIN CHASE SUMMER LEARNING PROGRAM

Brain Chase is a motivating way to make self-directed, online summer learning in core academic subjects fun and memorable from anywhere! For 5 weeks starting June 22, 2015, kids in grades 2 through 8 do an hour of online academic work through our curriculum partners. They also do weekly bonus challenges in geography, science or art using real-world tools that we send them through the mail. The adventure also includes weekly creative writing assignments that are reviewed by credentialed teachers. These completed tasks unlock animated webisodes featuring intrepid kid archeologists on the hunt for buried treasure. But the buried treasure is real - buried somewhere around the world in the ground - and the first student to use the animated clues and identify its location gets to travel to dig it up.

The 2015 Brain Chase challenge is to find the Sunstone of Cortés, a mysterious calendar stolen from the Aztec empire by Hernan Cortés in the 1500s. Kids join Mae Merriweather, her brother Max, athletic Sean Drake, and nemesis-turned-ally Savannah Bryce in finding the fictional Sunstone of Cortés... and the real one!

For an early price of $149 before April 15, Brain Chase adventurers receive:

- Five weeks of structured challenges on external math and reading sites
- Weekly writing exercises with feedback from credentialed teaching professionals
- Weekly progress reports emailed directly to parents
- Exclusive access to an original animated adventure series loaded with hidden puzzles and clues
- Three adventure tools mailed to your home separately during the 5-week course

- Participation in a massive global treasure hunt for a golden trophy containing the key to a safe deposit box holding a $10,000 scholarship

Please visit our website, our YouTube channel, or ask me questions directly. We look forward to having part of your homeschooling community join us this summer!
